

The HertsCam MEd Leading Teaching and Learning

A two-year part-time masters degree course

Recruiting now

Applications are welcome from teachers, senior leaders and other educators for enrolment in September 2017

Supporting practice development in schools

This programme enables participants to identify their own priorities for change and to design and lead their own development projects aimed at improving the quality of teaching and learning in their schools.

If you want to become a more effective change agent, this programme is for you.

The programme is designed and taught by experienced teachers in HertsCam. The degree is awarded by our academic partner, the University of Hertfordshire.

The MEd is part of the HertsCam Network, dedicated to building professional knowledge through dissemination, critical discussion and collaboration. This has an international dimension through sister networks in more than 15 countries.

Views of current participants

I now feel empowered to do things as a teacher, before this I felt all change would be led by the Senior Leadership Team

The teaching team build an ethos of teamwork and friendly debate.

They design the programme around the school year... It's well planned and you feel supported...

It is going to bring change within my institution, not just give me a qualification for doing some reading...

Interested?

Contact us to express your interest and request an application form
Or please see www.hertscam.org.uk for details

An MEd twilight session in a school classroom in Stevenage

Year 1 and Year 2 participants in discussion at a Residential Conference in a hotel in Hatfield

A Saturday morning supervision taking place at the University of Hertfordshire

For further enquiries please contact:

- Sarah Lightfoot, Programme Leader
- Sheila Ball, Deputy Programme Leader
- Jasleen Dhillon, HertsCam Administrator

Email: slightfoot@hertscamnetwork.org.uk

Email: sball@hertscamnetwork.org.uk

Email: jdhillon@hertscamnetwork.org.uk